Whig Caucus.

THE WHIGS of Bangor met at the NEW COURT HOUSE, on last EVENING at half past 7 o'clock, for the purpose of selecting three candidates to represent this city in the next State Legislature. Per order of City Committee. Sept 9

From Washington.

The last mail brings us the glad news that the President has signed the Land Bill that the Fiscal Corporation Bill has passed the Senate, and passengers from Washington at the latest date say that it was stated there that the President had expressed his determination to approve the Bill. This rumor was generally believed by the knowing ones at Washington.

The prospect is that all the executive nominations will soon be confirmed by the Senate, and the Globe says a game is playing by which they will all be confirmed. A wonderful "game" truly for a Whig Senate to confirm Whig nominations of the best - in the country.

The only measure of importance now before Congress is the Revenue bill and all the loco foco electioneering capital has been taken away from them by an amendment admitting Tea and Coffee free of duty.

On the whole, affairs appear in a prosperous train and "confidence revives." Congress will soon adjourn and the measures adopted will shortly shed a benign influence upon the country.

Whig Triumph!

LITTLE RHODE ISLAND IS TRUE TO HERSELF

The election for members of the State Legislature in Rhode Island, took place on Wednesday of last week, and the result, as was expected, is an overwhelming Whig victory. The Providence Journal gives the returns from 20 towns, (including Newport and Providence,) in which 35 Whigs and 12 loco focos are elected.

Are you names on the list.

The Board of Aldermen will be in session on Friday and Saturday. (to-morrow and next day) to correct the list of voters. Let every man see for himself that his name is on the list, and that his neighbor is on. Do not neglect this duty as the list is made up new every year.

As you yell for fever in New Orleans, there were 11 deaths on the 24th ult from that cause.

This periodical is of much value to the profession and is by them well sustained. It is also of interest to the general reader as will be seen by a reference to the contents of the present number. The McLeod case, the decision of the Supreme court of New York. This occupies the larger portion of the present number and from its importance and the great interest felt in the matter the space could not have been better occupied. The remainder of the number contains the following papers: Recent American Decisions, four cases three of which were decided at the June term of the Supreme Court of Maine held in this city. Digest of American cases. Intelligence and Miscellany, Monthly list of Insolvents.

The Monthly Miscellany of Religion and Letters September 1841 Vol. 5, No. 3 Boston

Through Messrs. Smith & Fennell, we have received the September number of this well known and able periodical, devoted to the dissemination of religious and literary information in consonance with the Unitarian Church.

This number contains the following original papers: Religious Progress, Poetry, and Painting, 'Charities,' 'I thou shalt reap if thou faint not,' 'Christians the heirs of God,' a sermon, 'Lead us not into temptation, Christian Duties,' 'Thrush's Last Thoughts on war, Politics, another chapter of David Rillington.

We have, in addition, several notices of recent publications, and the denominational intelligence.

New York Miscellany Magazine. Devoted exclusively to literary and religious subjects. Published weekly numbers $3.50 a year. Wm. W. Tompkins editor.

This is an excellent periodical for all those engaged in the military profession and contains a great many valuable suggestions and much clever reading for those only partially engaged in the duties of the soldier. It treats a high military character, and wisely labors to make use of the military association to elevate and refine both the mind and manners.

We need not say more to recommend it to our military friends, unless we add that its editor thinks war cannot be long delayed.

We notice that some of the New York papers still speculate upon the probabilities of a quiet dissolution of the Cabinet, and also upon the probabilities that the President will veto the present Bank Bill, in the hope of getting one merely to answer the necessities of the Government.

As to a breaking up of the Whig party, and the defeat of the great measures they wish to adopt, no credit is given to it. Harmony will prevail, and the country be blessed with the benefits of the political change of last year.

Assignment of the UNITED STATES BANK. On Saturday last the Directors of the Bank of the United States made an assignment in full for the benefit of all its creditors. The more immediate cause which has driven it to this alternative, is supposed to be the recent suit brought against it by the city authorities, upon $50,000 of its notes.

Mr. Robinson, the acting President, Mr. Taylor, the Cashier, James S. Newbold, Mr. man Cope, and James S. Bayard, of Delaware, are the Assignees.

The N. Y. Herald states: The fall business in New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Baltimore, is now getting in with great and rapid strides. It is generally expected, from the number of merchants on the seaboard, that the ensuing season will present more healthy features than we have seen for years.

Mr. Espy had a good audience last evening. The exhibition of the Battle of Bunker Hill, The Storm, and the Fairy Land was also well attended.

[For the Whig and Courier]

A new song to an old stick.
 Hurrah for the Whigs of Maine, Maine, Maine,
 Let the strain be heard again,
 And echo the country through,
 With cheer and song
 And shout as strong,
 We conquered before
 And we'll do it once more.
 Then hurra for the Whigs of Maine, Maine, Maine,
 Let the strain be heard again,
 Hurra for the Whigs of Maine

When corruption overshadowed the land,
 And darkness and error reigned,
 Our Union scattered the storm,
 Old Tippecanoe
 The clouds broke through,
 And factious Van
 Was a used up man.

We hurra'd for the Whigs of Maine, &c
 She burst from her shackles then,
 "Dingo" was freed from stain,
 And her banner waved proud to the breeze,
 Her beacon star
 Shone clear and far,
 While echoed away
 Over mountain and bay
 Hurra for the Whigs of Maine, &c

Let the spirit which roused her then,
 Awake her to action now,
 And her name sound in triumph once more,
 Her name is strong,
 "The Whig and the song,"
 Let the Star in the East
 Still lighten the West
 Hurra for the Whigs of Maine, &c

The fruit of our toils would we reap?
 The fields we have sown would we keep?
 We must guard them as well as win,
 Let the Star in the East
 Still lighten the West
 Hurra for the Whigs of Maine, &c

They count on the Whigs' dissolution
 They trust in one election,
 They say we are in discord and war,
 But we are broken and shattered,
 Defeated and scattered,
 Upset by the vote,
 And all turning loco.

Three groans for the Whigs' bane, bane, bane,
 Their humbug and lies near and far,
 Bane for the loco, bane, bane, bane

Hurra for the Whigs of Maine, Maine, Maine,
 Let the strain be heard again,
 And echo the country through,
 With cheer and song,
 And shout as strong,
 We conquered before,
 And we'll do it once more.

Then hurra for the Whigs of Maine, &c

Whig Caucus.

Our friends should bear in mind that an important meeting of the Whigs of this city is to be held THIS EVENING, at the New Court House, for the purpose of selecting three candidates for Representatives in the State Legislature. Every Whig should be present and give his vote for the candidates of his choice that all may unite upon candidates and elect them by a full vote at the polls.

From Florida. The St. Augustine News of the 27th ult. says that 27 Indians of Tiger tail and Alcock's bands had come in to Tampa and surrendered. Capt. Alexander had destroyed a field of corn. Lt. Rogers rode over one Indian and took him prisoner, and Capt. Gwynn had captured three Tiger tail warriors, and was in pursuit of more.

St. Francis barracks were struck by lightning on the 24th, and several soldiers were seriously injured.

The News speaks in the warmest terms of the gallant bearing and efficient services of General Worth, and declares its belief, that if the war continues to be prosecuted with as much vigor as it has been, he will be made a hero of Gen. Worth that while at St. Augustine, recently, some one asked of him where he would establish his headquarters during the summer; "in my saddle, sir," was his prompt reply.

CONGRESS.

In Senate, Friday Sept. 4. A resolution allowing Mrs. Harrison the use of the franking privilege during her life, (which had previously passed the House,) passed the Senate.

The Fiscal Corporation Bill then came up, being briefly debated by Messrs. Summons and Berrien, Mr. Walker, offered an amendment inserting a new section, claiming for Congress the power to "modify or repeal" which was rejected. Yeas 20, Nays 25. The question was then upon its third reading, which was ordered by the following vote.

Yeas Messrs. Archer, Barrow, Bates, Berrien, Choate, Clay of Ky., Clayton, Dixon, Evans, Graham, Henderson, Huntington, Kerr, Mangum, Merrick, Miller, Morehead, Phelps, Porter, Prentiss, Preston, Summons, Smith of Indiana, Southard, Tallmadge, White, Woodbridge. 27 Nays Messrs. Allen, Benton, Buchanan, Calhoun, Clay of Alabama, Cutler, Fulton, King, Linn, McRoberts, Mouton, Nicholson, Pierce, River, Sevier, Smith of Conn., Sprigg, Tappan, Walker, Woodbury, Wright, Young.

The bill was then read a third time and passed.

The Fortification bill was then taken up, and Mr. Preston moved that the Senate concur without the amendment of the House, which was to strike out $75,000 for the Western Army, and insert $5,000. After debate by Mr. Benton against, and Mr. Preston in favor of the amendment, it was adopted. Yeas 27, Nays 19.

In the House, a resolution was passed requiring the Secretary of State to report to the House, at the next session, a statement of the commercial regulations and restrictions of the United States with all Foreign Nations.

The McLeod resolution was further debated. In Senate, Saturday, Sept. 5. The Ordinance Bill, from the House, was taken up, debated and laid over until Monday. The Revenue Bill was then taken up, and an amendment offered by Mr. Woodbury striking out tea and coffee from among the taxed articles, was adopted, 24 to 19. Pending the discussion of an amendment to exempt salt also, the Senate adjourned.

In the House, after a speech on the question by Mr. Adams, the McLeod resolution was laid on the table, 100 yeas, 70 nays.

The Land Bill was received from the President with his signature, and having no business before it, the House adjourned.

Saturday September 4. The Distribution and Pre-emption Bill has received the signature of the President, as was to-day announced to the House of Representatives, and thus has become a law.

In the House the resolution relative to McLeod was discussed in a manner that excited much interest by Mr. Adams during his hour. The motion of Mr. Boardman to lay the bill on the table was then renewed, and carried 100 Yeas to 70 Nays.

Thus the resolution which has served as a cause of debate in the absence of other business was laid on the table.

On motion of Mr. J. C. Clark it was resolved, that no purchase of paper for the use of the House, be made until the Committee of Reform appointed on that subject submit a report to the House at the next session of Congress.

The House adjourned at an early hour, they have now no business before them.

In the Senate, the Ordinance Bill from the House, was taken up, discussed at some length, and laid over to Monday.

The Revenue bill was again taken up, the question being on the amendment offered some few days since by Mr. Woodbury, to exempt from duty tea and coffee.

Mr. Clay opposed the amendment pending, and preferred a duty on tea and coffee to a violation of the Compromise act, which must otherwise unavoidably take place.

Messrs. Woodbury, Calhoun, and Benton advocated the amendment, which was finally adopted. Yeas 20, Nays 10.

Mr. Allen moved to exempt salt from duty. After some remarks on this, and without taking the question, the Senate adjourned.

And there shall be chosen for each of said banks, at the special election hereby provided for, or as soon thereafter as may be in conformity to the provisions of their respective original charters, a president and such other officers as may by the particular charter be required to be elected, who shall hold their offices for the same time and in the same manner as if said charters had not expired, and said officers had been chosen at the last annual election.
